The Daily News.

NEWPORT.

BY CLEANSTON & NORMAN,
127 THAMES STREET.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUG 28, 1850.

Although Newport has been more crowded than usual with visitors this year, still there has not been as many really wealthy people here as on many previous years; and not as many of the truly fashionable people as last year and the year before. But we have had any quantity of genuine snobs, who have endeavored to create a sensation, and make themselves the stars of popular observation. We have desperate dances curiously wrangling for rich husbands, and rascally men seeking for wealthy wives. We have a number of nice young men, who have accumulated wealth, and come here in search of wives, who have made a formal announcement of the longitude of their possessions and their very laudable desire to find some one to help them make fools of themselves. We also have old bachelors and widowers, whose heads are frosty with the snows of severity winters, and whose years are approaching a close, who have made themselves most contemptibly ridiculous, by aping the young man and attempting to be exceedingly graceful and fascinating. They are poking about the saloons of the hotels, and absolutely tormenting every handsome girl they meet with, without even the courtesy of an introduction. Such is life here, and such are some of the component parts of which society is made up in Newport during the fashionable season. It is amusing to observe it, and yet it is lamentable to reflect how some persons are apparently abandoned by an overruling power, to their own weakness and stupifying folly. We know of several instances where, of over sixty, have taken private lessons in the Polka, Schottische, &c., in order that they might cut a dash in the saloons with young girls in their teens! We have seen trembling ages, boutin down with all the infinities of a long and varied life, uttering by the side of bright and sunny twenty, all engrossed in the irresistibly fascinating Waltz, while the legs of the venerable man tottered as if halting on the verge of the grave. Yet this is fashionable life! This is the accomplishment of the 19th century, at a fashionable watering place. May Heaven in mercy protect us from abandonment to such folly, should we ever live to that period when our hair is being whitened for the solemnity of the grave.

The Grand Concert and Suoee Dances to the Germans will take place Saturday evening, at the Ocean House Hall. The subscription list is now being circulated at the Hotels, and contains a large number of names; we trust that it will be well filled, and that the ladies and gentlemen will manifest their appreciation of these musicians in a substantial manner, at this great benefit Concert. See Program, in another column. On this occasion they will perform some of their most exquisite productions, several of which have never yet been executed in this country.

The Hutchinson Family give a grand Vocal Concert at the Ocean House Hall, to-night. The reputation of this family is so well-established, that it is hardly necessary for us to say anything in their behalf. Their music is exquisite, and the nightingale of the group, Miss Abby, who has been indisposed for some months past, has entirely regained her health, and will take part in the Concert this evening. This will be an attractive Concert, and we have no doubt the audience will be very large.

Go and see the learned Canary Birds, at Masonic Hall. There is no deception and no humbug about this exhibition. It is perfectly astonishing how little birds can be trained to perform such wonderful feats as are executed by these little things. Sir. Devoto's birds actually do all that is announced on his programmes. We regard this entertainment as equal if not superior to any that has been here this season; and certainly it is the most extraordinary.

We are indebted to the Hon. John H. Clarke and the Hon. Albert C. Greene for valuable public documents.

Rep. Peter J. Turner, of this town, has been ordered to the command of the U. S. schooner Essex, of the Home Squadron.

The following is an extract of a letter from a gentleman in San Francisco to a friend in this town, in regard to the ship Audley Clarke, formerly of this port:

The Audley Clarke was sold for $1,400, to a man named Wardwell, who, in attempting to secure a position on a list to be a part of the Government reserve, was opposed by another party with another vessel, anxious to secure the same position; they came to blows, the police interceded, and carried them to jail, and in the meantime the Audley Clarke went to sea on her own account.

Those who desire to attend the Fancy Ball at the Ocean House, next week, to obtain any kind of costume which they may desire, may apply to Messrs. D. J. & N. H. Gould, Thames street, just below the corner of Washington Square, who are supplied with the greatest variety which was ever before offered to the public.

The grand Fancy Dress, Ladies Masked Ball will take place at the Ocean House on Wednesday next, the 4th of September.

THE STATUE OF JOHN C. CALHOUN ABOUT TO BE RAISED.—Capt. Green Walden of Portland, Maine, attached to the cutter Morris, and Lieut. Robert J. H. Handy, each having a boat, at about 10 A. M., on Monday last, the weather being favorable, manned their boats, and sounded about the wreck of the ship Elizabeth.

After being on the ground for some time Capt. Walden discovered a box not before found, and communicated the fact to Lieut. Handy, who, after diving, reported that it corresponded in every particular with the description of the one said to contain Mr. Calhoun's statue.

The sea becoming rough the officers were obliged to land; but notwithstanding the weather, Mr. Lewis, wicker, attached to the Custom House, during the afternoon went to the spot with boat hooks, togs, &c., which he made fast to the box. In attempting to raise it, a part of the covering was torn off; and Capt. Walden, fearing that the statue might be injured, requested Mr. Lewis to desist.

On Wednesday, the 21st, the weather being favorable, Capt. Walden secured the yacht Twilight, Mr. John D. Johnson of Islip, L. I., its owner, kindly volunteering its use, with the services of himself and crew.

On Thursday morning the Twilight was anchored off the wreck, Capt. Johnson and Walden being on board, and at about 11 A. M., the sea having gone down, the boats were manned. In order to make fast to the statue, it was necessary to send down a diver. Capt. W.'s boatswain went down, and on his return reported that the box was partially torn off the box, and that he felt the limbs and other parts of the statue.

Mr. Kinnish, with a sloop having divers on board, being present, his men were about to be sent down to sling the box, but the officers declined the terms he asked, and the Twilight left the wreck to await a more favorable opportunity. During the day Mr. Jones, of Wall street, visited the wreck, accompanied by James A. Whipple, of Boston, the celebrated diver employed by the Government to make survey of the sunken steamship Missouri at Gibraltar.

In the afternoon all hands went on board the cutter, Mr. Whipple having his diving apparatus on board. He then sent down one of his divers in about thirty feet water. Subsequently the necessary apparatus to sling the statue was put on board the Twilight, which is now at anchor at the wreck, awaiting a favorable opportunity to raise the box.

These facts have been communicated to us by a gentleman who takes a lively interest in the matter, on whose responsibility we give them. Our informant says also that Lieuts. Francis Martin and Camillus Saunders have rendered valuable service in the matter. — Col. Adv.

The following is supposed to be the correct state of the market in this neck of the woods.

Honor—Dear and scarce. The old stock nearly exhausted, and the new crop rather unpromising.

Virtue—Importations light, and that of native growth degenerating.

Honesty—None in the market.

Patriotism—No demand.

Prudence—All in old hands.

Pride—Market glutted.

Politeness—Very cheap, but the owners appear very indifferent about the disposal of it.

Scandal—Market well supplied, but principally in the hands of hawkers and pedlars.

Religion—When brought into market, it is generally adulterated. Sales nominal.

Love—None offered except for real estate.

Talent—A scarce article—no credit allowed.

Sincerity—Out of season.

He CAUGHT IT.—Mrs. Prewett, of the Yezoo (Miss.) Whig, replies to some anonymous scribbler, in the following manner:

If the biped that sent us the anonymous letter from Jackson, signed "Cherubusco," will come to Yezoo City, and call at the Whig Office, two noble little boys, one eight and the other six years old, shall tie a leather medal round his neck, as a due bill for a good flogging they owe him payable some ten years hence; with compound interest.

The following is an extract of a letter from a gentleman in San Francisco to a friend in this town, in regard to the ship Audley Clarke, formerly of this port:

The Audley Clarke was sold for $1,

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.

SENATE.—Mr. Palmer's resolution was called up and Mr. Benton spoke earnestly against it. He proposes to examine into the whole question of voting books to members of Congress, and to show the rise and progress of its enormous abuses. He is now speaking.

House.—Mr. Jones made an ineffectual effort to get in a resolution to accommodate the reporters of the Globe.

Pending the motion, Mr. Matteson endeavored to fix the day to consider the bill upon cheap postage. Motion voted down.

On motion of Mr. Palmer, the House went into committee of the whole upon the post bill and various amendments of local interest were passed without opposition.

Mr. Ashmun moved to postpone the further consideration until to-morrow— lost 62 to 120.

Mr. Evans of Md., proposed a substitute for the bill, declaring every public road a mail route, and giving the Postmaster General full discretion. Ruled out.

Mr. Evans proceeded to state reasons.

Mr. Peeler opposed the substitute. Mr. Ingles moved its reference to the committee of the whole and spoke in favor of postponing its consideration.

Mr. Featherstone opposed the reference. Mr. Ingles' motion was finally lost.

Amendments were then proceeded with.

PROF. WEBSTER.—A Boston correspondent of the Salem Register, writes under date of 23d, to that paper:

This morning a conversation passed in my hearing between a gentleman and Mr. Andrews the jailor, respecting Prof. Webster. I gathered the following, though with some difficulty, by occasion of the perpetual din, caused by the going to and fro of the noisy vehicles which throng the streets.

Mr. Andrews states that, the Professor's health is perfectly good, and his spirits as buoyant, and his conversation at times as sprightly, as though nothing were about to transpire. He says that for a few weeks past, he has observed his eyes to be a little bloodshot, and tears occasionally trickle down his cheeks, and on several occasions found him engaged in fervent prayer, and poring over his bible, and other religious books, apparently unconscious of any one.

Mr. Andrews thinks him to be a most extraordinary man, and hardly knows what to think of him. He thinks it cruel to place a guard of five or six men upon him, as was suggested, but that he should be left to himself, and afford him opportunity for meditation and prayer, as the time for such exercises will soon be brought to an end.

A has some apprehension that the Press will censure him for the course he has adopted, in not placing a strong guard, but he has done what he supposed to be a duty he owed to a fellow dying man, and says that if Prof. Webster ever had an idea of committing suicide, the mode and manner has been decided upon long ago in his own mind and that a guard of twenty men cannot prevent it. His family continue to visit him twice a week, with whom he converses very freely, and comforts them by saying he feels happy, and quite resigned to his fate.

NATURE.—To the lover of Nature, there is a peculiar and interesting beauty in her scenery, especially in the autumn of the year, when the forest is stripped of its foliage, and the feathered minstrels of her groves have fled—when desolation become her epitaph, and the wintry winds howl her requies from the hills. It is then the true lover of Nature is led to contemplation, and becomes conversant with himself. If he sees an indefinable beauty in all that surrounds him—though the groves are no longer vocal with the melody of birds yet, he hears a thousand voices, which breathe upon his ear like the soft gushings of unearthly music. The murmuring of the streamlet; the hum of the distant waterfall, the dashing of the cataract, if heard aright, will teach him to hold converse with years which have rolled into eternity. Though his mind may be rich with all that man ever knew—though he may have drunk draughts of pleasure at the fountain of knowledge, yet Nature's autumnal scenery is calculated to arouse still deeper toned feelings in his heart; and as he drinks in the spirit of her inspiration, he becomes a hoier and happier man.

THE NOVELIST.—It is said that this gentleman, who is residing on Staten Island, will during the autumn and winter, give a series of lectures on the "Chivalric Ages."

YANKEE SPECULATION.

YANKEE SPECULATION.—We were informed, says the Boston Bee, by the best of authority, that in several houses on Lowell st., from the rear window or which may be seen in the jail yard, places have already been engaged for Friday, the 30th, by persons desirous of witnessing the execution of Webster, and that the price charged to each person is TEN DOLLARS!

DOING WHAT THE DEVIL NEVER DID.

A worthy clergyman somewhere on the Cape, was told that a portion of his flock were dissatisfied with his preaching, and anxious to get rid of him. Determined to be beforehand with them, he addressed them as follows: "My dear hearers, in the course of the ensuing week, it is my intention to do what the devil himself never did yet. I'm going to leave Cape Cod."

MARRIED.

In Wickford, 19th inst., Ethan Saundif, Esq., and Esther E. daughter of Francis Chappell, Esq., both of North Kingstown.

CAUTION.

THE REMARKABLE SANATIVE POWERS OF
COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA,
Have induced numerous attempts to counterfeit it, and make fraudulent use of Dr. Townsend's NAME to secure the sale of spurious ARTICLES.

These counterfeits and imitations only prove the VALUE of the ORIGINAL; and no imitative COMPLIMENT could be paid to Dr. S. P. Townsend's Extract of Sarsaparilla than the laborious efforts that have been made by many to get up something like it. As to the PUSIESTATE ATTEMPTS that have been made to imitate Dr. Townsend's NAME as to create confusion in the public mind in reference to the GENUINE ARTICLE, we publish below.
